Ten local middle school teams have been selected to embark on a travel learning trip to Germany this summer, funded by Wai Yin Association's inspiring educational project "TES 2013".

Second year in its running, "TES 2013" includes two more teams than last year's, thanks to the continuing support from the Consulate General of the Federal Republic of Germany and other private and corporate sponsors. Affinity to Frankfurt Tourism Board this year also introduces new programs aimed at deepening the students' insight of German life and culture.

Standing for Travel Experience Share, TES provides motivated students from less privileged families an opportunity to travel overseas to experience a different culture and share their adventures through daily blogging on Facebook. Ten school teams, each comprised three students aged 16 or above and a teacher, are selected on merits of their proposals on a 14-day study trip through several German cities. They were requested to research and plan their own study focuses, coordinate itineraries and travel logistics.

The trip takes place from 14 to 28 July 2013. On returning home, the teams will meet with judging panels to vie for several awards. The results are announced at a ceremony on 5 September at Festival Walk, Kowloon Tong, where an exhibition is mounted to display the students' effort to the public.
